NETWORK VERTICAL

Targeted reach into the industries you're hiring for.

Network Vertical routes your job into a distribution track built for a specific industry, so a nursing role reaches nursing candidates and a construction role reaches construction candidates, not just anyone browsing.

WHY VERTICAL REACH WORKS

Reach people already in the field

Passive candidates already working in an industry notice a role that speaks their language faster than a generic listing ever will.

Built for chronic hiring gaps

Industries with steady turnover, from trades to healthcare to transportation, benefit from an always-on channel instead of one-off posts.

Local trust, industry-specific

The credibility candidates already place in us as a local source carries into the industry context that matters most to them.

Stacks with Dispatch

Layer vertical reach on top of core distribution for the widest possible pool. This isn't an either-or decision.
